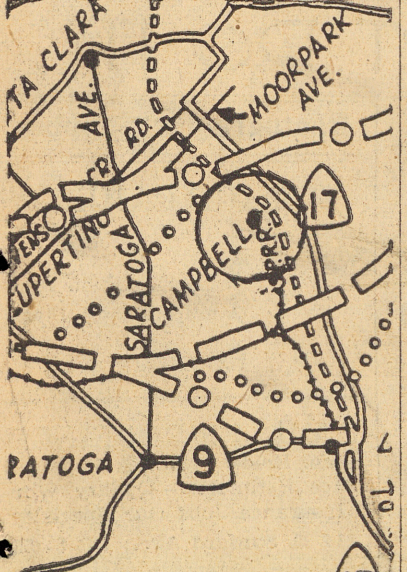
Junipero Freeway Faces Discussion

The first public hearing on the proposed Junipero Serra Freeway extension will be held at 2 p.m., Friday, August 9 at the Montgomery Theater in the Municipal Auditorium in San Jose.



New routes to be considered at the hearing run south and east of Prospect Ave. and Hamilton Ave. and extend from Sign Route 9 to Monterey Road. Portions of the freeway to be considered August 9 are part of the State Highway System.

Other studies to be discussed include relocation of state highways from Sign Route 9 (Saratoga-Sunnyvale Road) at Cleo Dr. to new Sign Route 17 near Los Gatos and a location study on Highway Route 239 between Sign Route 17 and U.S. 101 near Ford Road.

A second public hearing of the freeway will be held August 15 at 10 a.m. at Fremont Union High School on the corner of Fremont Ave. and the Sunnyvale-Saratoga Road. This portion is a part of the Federal Interstate System and extends from the San Mateo County line to a junction with the Los Gatos-San Jose Freeway.

FREEWAY PATH

Bulldozers began making a pathway through the orchards on both sides of Campbell Ave. along the Los Gatos Creek this week as construction work on the Route 5 Freeway begins.

City to Adopt Budget Monday

Campbell's City Councilmen will get a respite from the controversial "CM" zoning question at their meeting Monday when the main item on the agenda will be the adoption of the 1957-58 budget.

The second and final reading of the Controlled Manufacturing Zoning ordinance will be at the August 12 meeting. Because the proposed "CM" amendment adopts "by reference" a number of primary codes and standards, a hearing on these references must first be held. This hearing will also take place on August 12 and will be followed by the final reading and vote on the ordinance.

The tentative budget for the fiscal year will be less than last year and it is contemplated that the tax rate for the City will be lowered also. The tentative budget has been set at $362,793 compared to $383,156 last year.

Bids will be opened also at the meeting for two pieces of equipment for the public works department. The City is contemplating the purchase of a utility type tractor and a loader to increase the efficiency of street maintenance. The new budget also calls for an additional two men for the department.

Bids will also be opened Monday for the extension of Hamilton Avenue storm sewer project.

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan reported this week that the State Controller has esimated that income to the City from sales tax revenue will total $85,000 next year, considerably above the estimate of city officials.

On The Line in Campbell

Howard Payne, 255 Everett Ave., on Tuesday near Boulder Creek killed a forked horn deer with bow and arrow. Payne only used one arrow in picking off the deer at about 35 yards distance. Deer season for archers opens 10-days before the regular season. Payne who bagged two deer three years ago by the same method, reports that he missed the first time he went out this season.

Sam Cava, secretary-manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, has returned to his local duties from a three-week business trip to Las Vegas where construction was started on the first unit of the medical center he is building there. Dr. Emil Cava, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cava, who is practicing medicine in Las Vegas, will be one of the five doctors occupying offices in the first unit. Another unit of the same size is planned for the near future.

Board of Directors of Sanitation District No. 4 will discuss the proposed sewerage agreement with the City of San Jose tonight at the regular meeting and also Sanitary Sewerage Project 1957-2. Other items on the agenda for tonight's meeting include proposed adoption of Ordinance No. 10, awarding contract for Blackford Lane sewer extension, and the execution of reimbursement agreement with Trojan Construction Co.

Dads will be cooks at the fourth annual Little League breakfast at the Farnham School this Sunday, July 28. Farnham School is located at 15711 Woodard Road and breakfast will be served from 8:30 to 11 a.m. Tariff for the breakfast will be $1 and 50 cents for children under 12. Those attending are asked to bring their own place setting. A Father-son baseball game at noon will also feature the day.

Both Local School Districts Top $2 Million in Budget Estimates

Some idea of the magnitude of the school district operations in this area and how the ever-increasing enrollment has made the schools the "biggest business" in the county can be gained from the budgets for the districts that are published this week.

Both the Campbell Union (elementary) District and the Campbell Union High School District have estimaed budgets that exceed $2 million. This marks the first year that the high school district has hit this figure ($2,039,391.22) but the Campbell elementary went over the $2 million mark last year for the first time. The elementary district estimated budget for 1957-58 is $2,697,261.29. Last year the estimated budget was $2,004,117.26 with $2,169,356.86 expended.

The high school's estimate last year was $1,373,349.78 with $1,602,728.33 expended.

Fringe-Area Growth

The growth in the so-called fringe-area is also reflected in the increased estimated budgets for both Cambrian and Moreland school districts. Cambrian's estimate for 1957-58 comes close to the million dollar class with $999,829.76 compared $702,581.61 expended last year on an estimate of $686,772.58.

Moreland estimates $791,554.87 for 1957-58 as compared to $516,958.42 expended last year on an estimate of $495,000.89.

More From Taxes

According to the high school district's budget, it is estimated that $1,023,862.98 will be needed from district taxes to carry on the district's operation. Last year $804,459.25 was raised.

The Campbell elementary budget lists $1,091,081.45 to be raised in this manner.

The budgets show that instruction costs are the biggest items with $1,459,083.95 listed for this for the elementary schools and $1,174,889.63 for the high schools. The grammar school budget lists $189,610.35 for "operation of school plant" while the high school sets $132,980 for this. But the elementary has $77,465.00 marked for maintenance compared to $90,240 in the high school budget.

Estimated transportation costs in both districts are about the same. For the high school, $66,160 and for the grammar school, $67,273.70.

The grammar school budget has jumped to the $2,697,261 mark total from $1,842,784.55 in 1955-56 while the high school

City Collects

THAT'S THE WAY THE BALL BOUNCES . . . In the top picture on the left, City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan gets ready to receive a bunch of nickels from Chief of Police ← Bob Locke who is dismantling the three pinball machines that were confiscated last month from Tony's Busy Bee after payoffs on them had been reported by a sheriff's undercover agent. The City Clerk reported that $40.15 was collected for the City. According to state law, the machines must be destroyed 30 days after confiscation if no one claims them in the meantime, and the money is turned over to the city. The lower close-up photo reveals the intricate wiring system that is necessary to make the little ball scurry from hole to hole. Campbell Press photo.

SNAKE-CHARMER . . . Elizabeth Buccellato, 1825 Fruitdale Ave., San Jose, examines a harmless Desert Boa Snake at the Sherman Oaks School playground. The snake is owned by Phil Gordon of the Santa Clara County Junior Museum. Because it is not always convenient to take the children to the museum, under the sponsorship of the Campbell Union High School recreation district, various animals are taken from the museum and exhibited at the various school playgrounds in the district to give the youngsters an opportunity to learn something about animal lore.

Red Cross Blood Drive Monday; Supplies Low

In a drive to replenish badly needed blood supplies, the Red Cross will set up a blood center from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday, July 29, in the home economics room 46 of Campbell High School under the sponsorship of the local Lions Club.

According to Harry Gerin, Lions' blood drive chairman, the Red Cross blood supply is almost bankrupt due to an almost unprecedented demand in recent months and must be replenished quickly in order to fill constant requests.

Gerin said the Lions and its auxiliary club, Lionettes, are contacting former blood donors in the area as a possible source of new supply as well as Campbell residents.

Donating a pint of blood is painless, Gerin added, and takes only 15 or 20 minutes time.

Those willing to donate blood can go direct to the temporary Red Cross center at the high school Monday afternoon. Room 46 is in the last wing on the Winchester Road side.

Anyone needing transportation to and from the center can make arrangements by calling Gerin, FR 8-3616.

SEVEN '502's

Campbell police report that during the month of July seven arrests have been made for "502's" (drunken driving) within the Campbell City limits.

Workers Raze 50-Year Old Hardware Building

"Sidewalk Superintendents" with mixed feelings of emotions, depending on their length of tenure in the Campbell area, this week watched another landmark in the business district give way to the ravages of time . . . and progress.

On Monday the old Campbell Hardware building at Campbell Ave. and Central began to crumble before the onslaught of wrecking crews. By Wednesday barely a shell remained of the building that for more than 50 years served as the hardware merchandise center for this area.

The first section of the structure was built before the turn of the century by the late C. H. Whitman to house his rapidly expanding tin shop business. The shop had been operating in the Sutter building across the street where Schoenberger's Shell Station is now located.

Whitman gradually added a line of hardware merchandise to his tin shop and for more than half a century, he, and his successors to his business continued to serve the community in the hardware line. Whitman died in 1940.

After Whitman's death the store was closed for a few years. Then another merchant, Tex Leverton, took up quarters in the same old stand under the name of Campbell Hardware. Later Joe Agostinho, now a local real estate and insurance agent, took over the operation of the store. He, in turn, sold to Cel Gerevas and Norm Corvello. This partnership continued until last year when Corvello bought out Gerevas.

In the meantime the building began to show its age.

Last fall it was condemned by the City of Campbell and Corvello's Campbell Hardware moved down the street to the Nelson Bros. Grain and Supply, the front of which was remodeled for the hardware store at Campbell Ave. and First St.

T.A. (Art) Robinson, 36 S. 2nd St., has been an interested observer as wreckers began their operations, for Robinson was employed in the building for more than 40 years, under four different owners.

Now in his eighties but looking years younger, Robinson went to work for Whitman in 1902 and worked continuously in the store for 39 years, until Whitman's death. He was employed by the Orchard Supply Co. in San Jose during the few years the store was closed after Mr. Whitman's death but came back to his first love when it was reopened by Leverton. He continued in the employment of Agostinho as well Gerevas and Corvello until his retirement about five years ago.

Robinson (pictured above leaning on an old ladder that he built himself) can recall many changes both in Campbell and in the hardware business during the years he has been around.

He remembers that bicycle repairs, rentals and sales comprised a big part of the business when he first went to work for Whitman. James Burns was the first plumber in Campbell and one of the first additions to the original Whitman building housed Campbell's first plumbing shop.

The building was purchased by Carl Field after the death of Whitman and just recently was sold to the Campbell Building and Investment Co. According to William Lloyd of the company, a modern store building will be built on the site after the lot has been cleared.—G.V.

EXPRESS STRIKE ENDS

Railway Express Agency is again operating fully throughout the nation and all embargoes on rail and air express shipments have been lifted, it has been announced by J. F. Painter, agent of the combined Los Gatos and Campbell office. The strike of nearly 2,000 vehicle employees in seven major cities which began April 22 has been settled, he reported. Operations at the Campbell Railway Express office have been combined with Los Gatos for some time.

NO LONGER MISSING . . . "The Case of the Missing Fence", the somewhat facetious title given by The Press to the lengthy hassle between residents and Nelson Bros. Trucking came to an amicable end this week with the erection of the redwood fence enclosing the trucking firm's operation. Mrs. S. H. Farmer, 401 Hawthorne, and Robert M. Harris, 400 Hawthorne, two pleased residents, are pictured above pointing to the completed fence. Campbell Press photo.

ANTI-RABIES CLINIC

An anti-rabies vaccination clinic is scheduled for the Cambrian Park area at Camden High (next to the parking lot) next Tuesday, July 30. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m., according to the Santa Clara County Health Department. By ordinance all dogs must be vaccinated against rabies before a dog license can be issued.

Work Begins on New Unit of Methodist Church

Work began this week on construction of the educational unit of the First Methodist Church of Campbell with Oscar W. Meyer Company as contractor. Carlton A. Steiner of Berkeley is the architect.

The new building, consisting of 7942 square feet of floor space, will provide modern educational facilities for small children and young people.

The educational building is part of the overall master plan of the church and present plans call for it to be ready for occupancy by January 1, 1958.

The unit will house a crib room, large rooms for two, three, four, and five year olds, as well as classrooms for primary, junior, and junior high students.

A children's play yard and youth patio are also part of Unit No. 2. Gutters and sidewalks will be constructed at the front of the property along Winchester Road.

The Rev. Herbert Neale is pastor of the church and Miss Etta Peoples is director of christian education.

Present Freeway Plans Miss City

Latest routes proposed for the Junipero Serra Freeway from San Francisco to the Monterey Highway in San Jose would not affect the city limits of Campbell, however, one route proposed by a Palo Alto engineer and subsequently ruled out by the Highway Division, would have cut across the Campbell "finger" between Dutard and Clifton Ave.

The Campbell City Council opposed the original Route "A" which runs north of the city on the grounds that it would split school districts. The Council did not oppose Route "B" which runs south of the city, however, did not look upon it favorably.

Present studies leave Route "A" as originally planned which has the freeway crossing Stevens Creek Road at Lawrence Station and then across Saratoga Ave., Santa Clara-Los Gatos Road and San Jose-Los Gatos Road north of Hamilton Ave.

The new Route "B" would run south of Route "A" along the Southern Pacific line, north of Stevens Creek Road crossing at Lawrence Station and east on Moorpark Ave. A variation of Route "B" is under consideration depending upon the abandonment of the Southern Pacific line between Monte Vista and the Santa Clara-Los Gatos Road near Quito Road. This plan follows the original Route "B" as established in April of this year.

Route "F", which the State Division of Highways recently ruled out, would have left the new Route "B" near Stelling Ave., followed Doyle Road and Payne Ave. and cut diagonally across Campbell between Dutard and Clifton Ave. This route was offered as a compromise for Los Altos and Los Altos Hills residents who oppose Routes "A" and "B".

Babe Ruth Team Loses Playoff Game

West Valley's Clark Ransome, pitching for the Campbell-Los Gatos All-Stars, hurled no-hit ball for nine innings Saturday only to lose a tight, 2-1, decision to the Mountain View club as the winners came up with two bunts in the last of the tenth for the winning run.

Friday night, Walt Christiana had pitched thte locals into the area championship finals with a, 4-2, victory over the Sunnyvale All-Stars. Christiana gave up only two hits.

Manager John Ezzie called on Ransome, who had pitched his West Valley team into the league lead only the week before, to pitch the championship game and Ransome came through in splendid form until the fatal tenth.

The local all-stars had taken a one run lead in the third inning with Catcher Terry Leonard scoring on a squeeze bunt by Gregg Anderson. Mountain View evened the contest up in the sixth on a similar play and the two teams battled scoreless until the tenth.

Campbell-Los Gatos Babe Ruth play continues this week with the season ending July 31.

EDITORIAL

"Everyone Is Happy on the Street"

It was our pleasure last week to make the following quote in a news story concerning a compromise that had been worked out between a developer and residents of a section of town:

"Everyone is happy on the street."

The quote was in reference to the so-called compromise that was worked out between Philip Sondeno, a builder and developer, and the residents of Sunberry Drive. The Planning Commission acted, in effect, as "mediator" in the affair.

This week we again report: "Everyone is happy on the street."

This time we refer to the hassle which we termed "The Case of the Missing Fence". It concerned the controversy between Nelson Bros. Trucking and the residents adjacent to the firm.

The hassle was quite bitter at times and it stretched over a considerable period of time.

The "missing fence" was erected by the firm last week and the residents were pleased. We hope the recriminations and bitterness that developed during the fence problem will soon be forgotten.

"Is everyone happy on your street?"

What Is Best for the City as a Whole?

As reported in the news story last week in The Press, the battle lines on the "CM" front are clearly drawn.

To those of you who have tuned in late, "CM" stands for "Controlled Manufacturing", a new type of zone that is in the process of becoming the law of the City,

"CM" is a highly restrictive type of zoning and regulates off-street parking, setbacks, side-yards and heights of buildings among other things. It also limits buildings to those of masonry construction and specifies that structures can cover only 40 per cent of the land.

Performance standards relating to noise, vibration, smoke, electrical disturbances and odors are also established.

A second part of the new zoning ordinance deals with the acreage limitation and is drafted in such a manner that it can apply to other zones as well as "CM". Lot sizes in other new zones can be regulated by the City.

The Planning Commission has announced that it is the intention of the Commission to designate the entire industrial park "CM", which extends roughly from Camden Ave. on the north to E. Parr Ave. on the south between the railroad tracks and the creek.

And that's where the fun begins.

There are many property owners in the industrial park who feel that the "CM" restrictions are not necessary for their area. They claim also that, if the restrictions are applied, it will work a hardship on them.

Although the new zoning ordinance makes no reference to the two-acre minimum, all the research and study that went into the report of the joint industrial committee of Los Gatos and Campbell refers to two-acre minimum acreage in lot sizes.

The Press has previously gone on record in favor of the new type of zoning, and we have heard nothing lately that has made us change our mind.

We feel that the restrictions and regulations included in the ordinance will be beneficial to the community as a whole. We think that it provides an objective in planning that, if carried out, will eventually prove its worth to the people as a whole.

On the other hand, we believe that both the City Planners and the City Fathers should proceed with care in the application of the "CM" zone.

We feel that it is possible to adjust the application as to acreage (based on the provisions of the ordinance) so that the majority of people will be satisfied and still maintain the overall restrictions.

We are not sure exactly how this "compromise" can be worked out, for it is obvious to observers that there are two distinct philosophies involved in the current controversy.

It may be difficult for these two philosophies to find a common denominator.

But we sincerely hope that the City of Campbell (as a whole) will be the gainer in the final analysis.

If that be a selfish attitude on our part, then make the most out of it.

Over the Years

By John D. Blaine

The Pacific Telephone story on page two of Press last week took my memory back over the years to when I first saw a telephone.

The place was the town where I was born in 1874, Lincoln, Logan County, Ill., and the time was 1882. Bell, inventor, developed the telephone between the years of 1873-76. So the Bell Telephone had been a patented invention for only six years when I first saw this item.

The phone I saw was in the office of a real estate man. There must have been others in the town or his would have been useless. But in that town I never saw any of the others.

I was then eight years old. When I was nine our family moved to what is now South Dakota, where I lived from 1883 to 1887. I don't recall seeing any phones in Dakota.

When we came to the Campbell area in 1887 the telephone was not yet a common feature of public service. When you wanted to converse with somebody you depended on personal contact.

Campbell telephone exchange, according to the official story in the Press, was founded in 1897. Martha Curran, mentioned as "central," I remember well. She was very good natured and popular.

First country phones around Campbell were not due to the enterprise of Pacific Telephone Co. Campbell farmers organized their own company, cooperative, and put up their own poles and strung their own lines. A. C. Keesling, if I have the name just right, is the man I recall as leader in this movement. He serviced the phones and managed things.

Eventually Pacific Telephone Co. took Farmer's Line over, but not until after years of independent service. The farmers had as many as 12 phones on a line. It was fun to listen in, farmers' wives said, if you had time.

On one of the country delivery routes of my grocery store spoken of last week there were 14 phones. Just as our delivery was ready to start the ladies would begin phoning additional orders. All 14 would call up, or so it seemed. Then the 14 would start around the second time.

Why these farmers' phones didn't drive us to Agnews I don't know. They were used as encouragers to carelessness in ordering. Cash-and-carry has done a lot of disciplining of the dear careless ladies. They drove us nuts but we loved them still.

The official story in the Press mentioned an attempted robbery of our Campbell Bank. The bank was then in the building now called Campbell Theater. The butcher shop of Bert Gilson, who called up Central to spread the alarm, was where Taste Good Bakery is now.

That incident was in 1926. Years before that, in fact before 1900, Campbell Central was put to far more dramatic use.

As an outcome of a family feud James Dunham on a certain night murdered six persons, three women and three men, on the McGlincey ranch in McGlincey Lane south of Campbell. A neighbor who heard Dunham's revolver shots investigated and phoned Campbell Central and thus started a general alarm.

Meanwhile Dunham had mounted a saddle horse that belonged to one of the family and in the bright moonlight was riding around looking for the one man, a hired hand, who had succeeded in escaping. Dunham wanted to kill everybody who could serve as a witness.

In his intensive search Dunham came galloping up Union Avenue to Campbell Avenue A young man7oth --'G(r · fa-S and turned toward Campbell. A young man named Charles Starret had learned of something wrong from the telephoning and was hurrying east on Campbell Avenue beyond the bridge.

In the moonlight Starret recognized the horse as from the McGlincey ranch and shouted, "What's wrong at McGlincey's?"

Instantly Dunham reined up, pointed a revolver at Starret and demanded, "What do you know about McGlincey's?"

Starret stammered that somebody had phoned. Dunham sat on the horse, covered Starret with the revolver, and relapsed into hard thinking. Starret stood frozen, terrified but not making a bad guess at what was going through Dunham's mind.

Probably the only phone in the neighborhood was that of George Page, then living at the end of McGlincey Lane on Casey Road. This phone Dunham had not taken into his very elaborate calculations. He saw no use to kill Starret. A general alarm was obviously out. Dunham himself would immediately become the hunted.

Suddenly Dunham wheeled the horse and galloped off. The horse was found on Mt. Hamilton, but Dunham was never reported as seen again. For him our nation was searched for years. Various suspects were arrested. But the mystery of what Dunham did with himself has never been solved.

The picture and story in last week's issue about the night-blooming Cereus that bloomed one night recently in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Orford, 980 Hacienda, we are pleased to report created quite a stir among local flower-lovers.

Cliff Cassiday, head mogul in the back shop of The Press, termed the whole affair a "Cereus Situation" in his weekly offering which appears in the Merchandiser, our sister publication that goes to all the homes in the Campbell area.

But serious or "Cereus", we were happy to learn that despite the rarity of the flower, other people in the community have night-blooming "Cereus" plants in their yards . . . and they have been blooming quite extensively, we will have you know.

But "cereusly" the first time we have ever seen the "Cereus" to our knowledge was when we photographed the flower in bloom in the Orford's garden at 9 o'clock that evening. Naturally we were suitably impressed by the blooming job.

Mrs. Roy Meron, 226 N. Cloverdale, informed us that there had been as many as 50 blooms on their "Cereus". She reassured us that the flower only opens up at night and that it only blooms once. She promised to let us know when any of the cactus-like plants start their nocturnal performances. Sure enough she called Monday to tell us that a flower was ready to go into its act and we could have it, if we wanted it.

Another phone call came in from Mrs. Bonnie Hall, 321 Sharp Ave., who told us that "Cereus" plants at their place had blossomed three times already and that she counted nine more buds on the plants.

This IS getting real "Cereus".

We have just learned that we are among the lucky ones who were able to get tickets for "My Fair Lady", the musical that has proved so immensely popular both in its New York run and now in San Francisco.

The musical has proved so fabulously popular that for some performances the management has even sold out all the standing room. We were happy to learn that our esteemed mayor, John M. Chargin, has also been able to get tickets for the show, although he tells us that his first attempt was very disappointing. All they had available at the time were scattered singles. He fared better later on, however.

We are also indebted to Mayor Jack for another ticket sidelight on "My Fair Lady" involving local personages.

While Jack was attempting to get tickets personally at the box office he noticed that Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hill had arrived for the show. He learned also that they had run into a slight difficulty that had to be straightened out before they could get their seats.

They had left their tickets behind in Campbell.

We neglected to find out whether it was necessary for them to go all the way back to Campbell to get the tickets. We hope not.

We understand that one of the womenfolk was responsible for the oversight.

We have tried to avoid any such occurences in our family by entrusting the responsibility to our wife. But golly, apparently that's what Bill and Larry did. And look what happened? This may call for another look at the situation.

Ken Robison, director of the extensive summer recreational program for the high school district, was much appreciative of our editorial in last issue. Entitled "It Fills A Need", the editorial explained that the summer program filled a definite need in the community for the summer months.

Ken casually mentioned that the recreational program was also responsible for a number of other items in the paper besides the editorial.

He pointed out that with the exception of Marvin Moore's sports column, "Low Down on Sports", the entire sports page was composed of activities of the recreation program, to wit, Little Leagues, farm leagues softball, swimming and Babe Ruth League. In all we counted eight stories on the sports page that were part of the program.

In addition we had a picture and story of Bud Jolimy and his woodworking class on the front page and we even touched on the swimming program in this column. We had discussed here last week the theft of a 10-year old's wallet with 15 bucks in it. (The kid did not check his stuff with the attendant before he went swimming).

You can see what we mean by an "extensive program". We're not kidding.

The three pinball machines that were picked up from Tony's Busy Bee a month ago were destroyed this week at the City Hall. Campbell police picked them up after it had been reported by a sheriff's undercover agent that payoffs on them were being made. Under the law, confiscated machines must be destroyed in 30 days if no one claims them.

No one put in a claim.

So this week the Campbell police under the direction of Chief Bob Locke went to work on them. The money that was still in them was turned over to the city treasury. (It only totaled $40.15 in nickles but a note in one of the cash boxes indicated that the day before they had been confiscated, $78 was the take).

During the time Monday when the machines were actually being put out of commission, they provided, in the name of research an interesting diversion for City Hall personnel.

Quite a number took turns pulling the handles, giving the necessary "body English" and watching the ball bounce around. (The cops claimed they were checking the odds.)

We don't know how many "winners" there were but we know for sure there were no pay-offs in the City Hall basement.

We even pulled the handles a couple of times ourself.

After looking at the intricate wiring job necessary to make the machines operate, it was sorta sad to see the darn things dismantled.

It seemed such a waste of talent.

Not to speak of wire and glass.

GUBSER ASKS PAUSE

Representative Charles S. Gubser, (R-Gilroy), this week called for the establishment of a special House committee to study and make recommendations aimed at strengthening Congressional control over the public purse. Representative Gubser's request came in the form of a resolution introduced in the House of Representatives. The Resolution calls for the establishment of a 10-man bipartisan select committee to make the probe.

San Francisco is the Nation's coolest major city in summertime.

REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS
TENTH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

The Congressional seniority system is about as rigid as the Rock of Gibraltar and usually the younger members of Congress are as effective against it as a cap pistol. But even little waves, by their persistence, can erode big obstacles away in due time. This could be the case with HR 8002, a bill strongly favored by young members of Congress but opposed by the "powers that be".

HR 8002 is recommended by the Hoover Commission and would place federal budgets on an accrual rather than an expenditure basis. Under present budgetary procedure there are really three budgets. One is new obligational authority wherein government departments request permission to spend money in the future. The other is contract authority wherein they use this permission as authority to enter into contracts. The last one is actual expenditure where money is paid out when a contract is completed. Suppose the Navy wants to build an aircraft carrier for 300 million dollars. First they get the authorization or obligational authority. Then, a year or two later, they may enter into contracts for, let us say, forty million. Next year they may contract for the expenditure of another 100 million or the balance of the three hundred. Finally, when the contract for forty million is completed, the money is actually paid out of the treasury.

Under such a complicated system covering millions of items it is impossible for Congressmen, who have the responsibility of watching over public funds to keep an accurate check on what each governmental department is doing. Consequently, it has become the practice for the Navy, or other departments, to periodically check with just one or two members of the Appropriations Committee as they spend authorized funds.

HR 8002 would cut out one of the above three "budgets" and simplify the process. First, Congress would authorize an expenditure and the budget would only reflect money which was actually going to be spent in that fiscal year. As it is now our federal budget is for about 71.8 billions of dollars, but we will spend over 80 billion and could spend over 140 billion in one year with the "say so" of only a handful of men.

Appropriation Committee Chairman Cannon and ranking minority member Taber are powerful and experienced veterans, both of whom are dedicated to economy. But they opposed HR 8002 on the apparent grounds that economy could best be served if they retained their immense power. They succeeded in bottling the bill up in Rules Committee and only last week it was released for consideration by the persistence of younger members of Congress.

The 83rd Club, of which I am President, played a big part in this drama. Our group of 35 young members of Congress fought to have the bill considered and also passed a resolution calling for a sweeping review of our clumsy budget procedure. We believe that adopting the Hoover Commission recommendations will save the taxpayers billions of dollars and simplify and insure Congressional control of the budget.

FACTS ABOUT FIRE PREVENTION

PROVIDED BY FIRE CHIEFS
A. J. GILBERT, San Jose • G. N. RENN, Saratoga • R. B. WALL, Los Gatos
HENRY C. LINGUA, Central Fire District • GODFREY ZIMERMAN, Burbank

GREASES and FATS are a serious home kitchen fire hazard. Whether animal or vegetable, they are highly flammable. Special care should always be taken when cooking in deep fat.

Fires caused by greases and fats are startling, but need not be serious unless they get out of hand. However, a minor grease fire can cause painful burns. Grease fires may be rendered harmless if you act fast. Remember:

1. Clean out the oven regularly to avoid an accumulation of grease.
2. Keep grease containers away from the stove.
3. Window curtains and towels should not be close to the stove. Grease fires can flare up and ignite them.
4. Do not try to put out the fire with water. If the fire starts in an open pan on the stove, place a lid quickly over the container.
5. If the fire is in the oven, close the oven door and turn off the oven.
6. If a fire threatens, first call the Fire Department.

Like most blazes, grease fires start from simple causes. This means they can be avoided by simple precautions and a little knowledge. Good housekeeping is the best possible preventive measure.

As the Fire Departments' partner in protecting the community against the menace of fire, we are happy to devote this space to fire prevention messages from the Fire Chiefs in our service area.

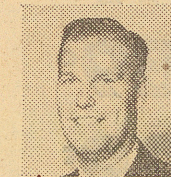
WHAT'S DOING



J. F. Imsand, your Telephone Manager in Campbell

Here's a new kind of "calling card." For telephone calling, that is. These odd looking cards are made by a process called "printed wiring." In certain kinds of telephone equipment they can form electrical pathways, replacing an intricate maze of wires. I expect you've heard about Automatic Answering Sets—phones that answer your calls when nobody's in. Well, they've got printed wiring in them. The cards eliminate a tremendous amount of delicate soldering and connecting, yet help us bring you better service.

Fire's a big hazard this time of year. So it's a good time for us all to get behind Smokey Bear's Fire Prevention Campaign. They say fire burned about 9 million acres of forest land last year. We can help by being extra careful to put out matches, cigarettes and campfires. I'm happy to pass along Smokey Bear's slogan right here: "Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires." Good point for all of us to remember.

During their experience in the Santa Clara Valley, they have seen the area grow and expand, and the telephone's progress which has grown to meet the needs of the community.

Wednesday, July 17, fifty Blue Birds from the Campbell-San Jose area, accompanied by nine chaperones, boarded chartered buses and went off to visit Fairyland Park in Oakland.

At the park the girls stopped to view a puppet show about Aladdin and his magic lamp and watched a real Indian perform several of his native dances. Dressed in brightly colored feathers, a tribal costume of his own making, he was one of the highlights of the day for the Blue Birds although some doubted his authenticity because he wore a ceremonial wig over his modern haircut.

Lunch was eaten in the picnic area and followed by a song fest, the "Merry-go-round" song being their favorite.

After lunch the girls went to the lake to hear a talk on local wild life by Paul Covel, a naturalist, who allowed them to help him feed the ducks. Of particular interest was a black swan that caught their eyes as he swam gracefully by.

At the end of the day, a tired but happy group of Blue Birds boarded their buses and sang all the way home.

Those from the Campbell area making the trip were: Cheryl James, Barbara Cunha, Sharon Adcock, Kathryn Gwinn, Kathy Bailey, Diane Bruce, Margie Dains, Donna Garcia, Barbara Kelley, Jeanne Harmon, Kathy Porter, Claudia Blake, Marjory Klus, Sharon Bjerke, Cheri Griffith, Teresa McDermott, Lucia Sosnowsky, Jean Walker.

Mesdames Lea Etta Bailey, Delores Cunha, and Marie Harmon were among the adults who went along as chaperons.

JUNE BRIDE AND GROOM . . . Planning a future home in Roseville, California, are the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Glenn James who recited their marriage vows June 29 in the Congregational Church. The bride is the former Carole Schrader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Schrader.

Glenn James and Carole Schrader Wed in Double-Ring Ceremony

The altar of the Congregational Church, banked with white tapers, gladioli and stock was the setting for the mid-afternoon wedding of Carole Schrader and Glenn James on Saturday, June 29. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Corwin Olds.

Immediately following the nuptials, a reception was held in the garden of the Schrader home where the newlyweds cut their elaborate five tiered cake and received the felicitations of over 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Schrader of 1788 Campbell Ave., San Jose. She is a June graduate of San Jose State College and member of Alpha Chi Sorority.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving James of San Jose. He is a graduate of San Jose State and is now employed as an engineer at Aerojet General Corporation in Sacramento.

For her wedding, Carole selected a floor-length, long-sleeved princess gown of delustered satin which swept into a chapel train. A crown of seed pearls and French sequins held her fingertip illusion veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis when given in marriage by her father.

Bridal attendants were gowned identically in embroidered aqua taffeta sheaths and wore matching veiled aqua bandeaux. All carried arm bouquets of aqua and white carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Adolph Wagner of San Jose, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mesdames Ronald Whitney and Paul Ciraulo of San Jose, and Miss Elizabeth Svihra of Palo Alto.

Flower girl leading the bridal procession was Linda Bengiveno of San Jose, who wore a princess dress matching the bride's gown and scattered aqua carnation petals from her basket.

Mrs. Schrader, mother of the bride, chose a pink crystalette dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids. Mrs. James, mother of the groom, wore an olive green silk with white accessories and a yellow cymbidium orchid.

Byron James of San Jose, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Ushers were Bill Mullins, Adolph Wagner, and Ronald Whitney.

Mrs. Noble Hancock was organist and accompanied the vocalist, Mrs. Lynn Schilecher.

The young couple will make their future home in Roseville, California, where the new Mrs. James will begin her teaching career in September.

Garden Reception Fetes Newlywed Hal Fairchilds

A wedding reception Saturday afternoon, July 13, in the garden of the Leslie Fairchild home, 213 N. Second Street, feted their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Fairchild, who were married earlier this month in Morgan Hill. The bride is the former Juanita Harrison of Gilroy.

For the occasion, white wedding bells were strung among the trees to carry out the bridal theme and white stock decorated a table centered with a tiered wedding cake.

At the reception, the bride wore a princess-styled powder blue lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Sixty friends and relatives were present to offer their felicitations to the newlyweds.

Juanita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson of Gilroy and is presently employed as a nurse in the Saratoga rest home.

Hal is a graduate of San Jose State College where he was affiliated with Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity. He is now employed at Food Machinery as design draftsman.

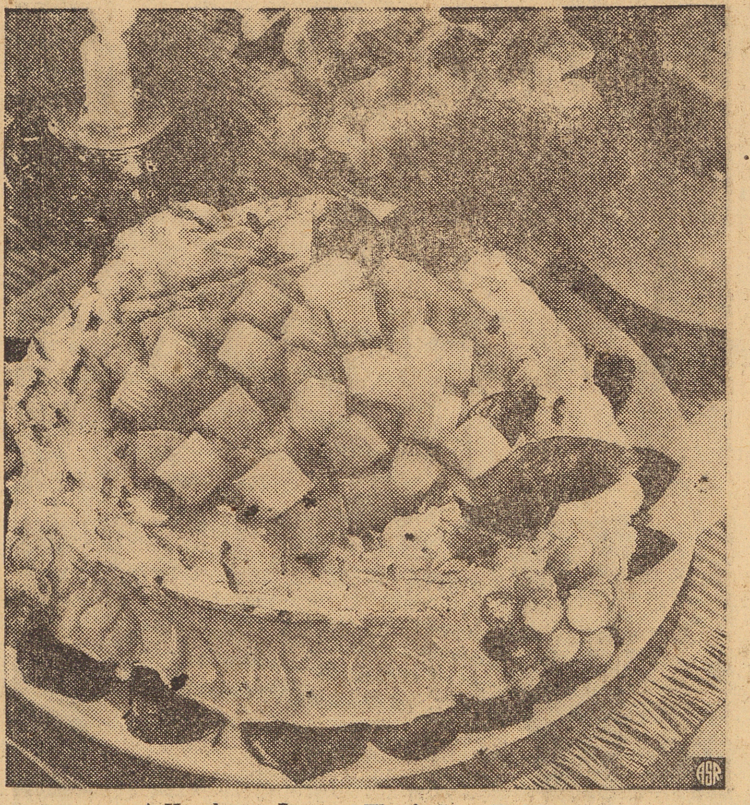
Try Pineapple Almond Torte



A Handsome Dessert That's Sure To Please

Golden pineapple makes any dessert party-pretty. Here it is used as a filling for a torte made in a ring mold. The foundation is a delicate meringue—a variation of that old-fashioned recipe called "Forgotten Cake." The final trick is slivered almonds arranged porcupine-fashion in the meringue.

Feature this dessert at a buffet, luncheon or dessert party. One of the brightest ways to serve it is to bring it to the table for all to admire.

Pineapple Almond Torte

- 4 egg whites
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ½ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 drops almond extract
- ½ cup slivered blanched almonds
- 1 can (No. 2½) pineapple chunks
- 1 cup whipping cream

Heat oven to 450°F. Place egg whites in electric mixer. Beat until stiff peaks form. Combine sugar, cream of tartar and salt. Gradually add to egg whites, beating slowly. Fold in flavorings. Pour into lightly greased 8-inch ring mold. Stick top thickly with almond slivers, porcupine-fashion. Place in oven and turn off heat. Leave until oven cools or overnight. Chill pineapple in can. Remove cooled torte carefully from ring mold with the aid of a small spatula, keeping almond side up. Drain pineapple. Frost outside of ring as shown with whipping cream. Fill with pineapple. Garnish with frosted grapes. Serves 6 to 8.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. After watering your lawn, check the depth of water penetration with a small stick or iron rod. Soak deeply and less frequently.

2. To prevent the neighbors earwigs from invading your garden, spread Dieldrin granules on a two foot wide strip around the edge of your property.

3. If your lawn suffers from lawn moth damage, you can speed recovery by spraying with liquid fertilizer.

4. Due to the long summer season in California, several spray applications for lawn moths are usually required for control of this pest. Consult your nurseryman.

5. To keep your lawn from encroachment on flower beds, etc., border your lawn with the new invisible aluminum lawn edging.

Perennials For Color

A garden can be a many splendored thing most of the year in California but this is particularly true in the summer. Since gardens take their personality and beauty from color, the summer perennial is especially valued for there is literally no limit to the sizes, shapes, hues and shades that can be effected by the choice of summer perennials which flourish here.

Whether the gardener plans a cheerful many colored display or a special one-color effect, there are hardy perennials to fit his scheme. Whatever his plans, however, he should certainly visit his local nurseryman often to solicit aid in making sure that his selections receive the proper care to achieve the effect he desires.

For a garden bursting with color the Geranium (Pelargonium) cannot be overlooked. Blooming in pinks, salmons, scarlets, vermillions, purples, bronze reds, whites and whites with peppermint candy variegations, a Geranium garden will maintain its colorful bloom for weeks. Actually requiring little care, the Geranium will thrive if pinched and pruned to maintain shape and to remove branches that have become worn and unattractive. Be sure to establish good drainage in heavy soils, water newly planted Geraniums well until they have become established and then only enough to keep the ground moist because too much water may keep the plant from blooming freely.

For blending shades of one-color perennials for special effects, the California Association of Nurserymen suggests the following summer blooming plants. A cool-looking blue and white garden is achieved by blending the purple of Lavender (lavandula officinalis) with the light blue of delphiniums, blue peonies and clumps of white Shasta Daisies (Chrysanthemum maximum). This arrangement will thrive in areas that have sun with partial shade in the mornings or afternoons.

There are, of course, a variety of daisies from which you may choose. One species that will give dependable garden and cut flowers are the Transvaal or Gerbera hybrids which have blooms in yellow, cream, pink, rose, orange and red flowers. The Gerbera hybrids are extremely long lasting in all of their bright colors and have single or double blooms. They are a low, compact plant, ideal for foreground planting.

For a rich-looking red-pink effect, deep red carnations (dianthus carophyllus) can be combined with scarlet Coral Bells; (heuchera), a pink type of perennial phlox, and Sweet William (dianthus Barbatus) in a rose shade. For contrast, add white verbena hortensis. This garden will grow in full sun.

If you prefer bright yellow, use yellow carnations with Golden Marguerites (anthemis tinctoria). Here, again, use the Transvaal Daisy (gerberia jamesonii) in its yellow blooming shade. White verbena hortensis can also be included in this garden arrangement which requires full sun.

Since summer perennials are found in all shades of red, blue and yellow, they can be effectively combined to achieve the cheery effect desired by all gardeners. Some perennials, such as carnation, phlox and columbine have varieties in all three shades.

In choosing plants for a perennial border, consider relative heights and spreading tendencies of each perennial. Borders should contain complementary shapes of leaves and flowers. For example, the tall spires of delphinium contrast well with the round-flowered peony. Be sure you get the most out of your garden by consulting with your local nurseryman before buying!

Hibiscus

Good news to California Gardeners is the development of the giant flowered Hibiscus, moscheutos, for this new strain has made it possible for gardeners throughout the state to enjoy the brilliant beauty of the giant blooms. The moscheutos, originally a native of the Northeastern states is unique, because it combines the beauty of the Hibiscus with an ability to survive in cold regions.

Because the plant loses its above-ground growth each year, frost does not harm it, indeed, it is known to survive in areas where the temperatures fall as low as 20 degrees below zero.

This hibiscus, which is now available in containers at local nurseries is a fast growing plant which blooms from early August through September. The lovely tropical blooms often measure 8 inches and more in diameter, in colors of white, light pink, deep red-pink, dark red, white with pink stripes and white with red eyes (centers).

The shrub is fast growing and often reaches a height of 8 feet although the average height is 4 to 5 feet. It becomes very bushy and develops many sprouts as it matures. It can be grown successfully in every area of California, with exception of the high mountainous regions.

The Hibiscus moscheutos should be grown in the sun and where it will receive partial shade during some parts of the day. It is a heavy feeder and requires generous amounts of water for it has a large bushy root system. The plant thrives in rich well-drained, well fertilized light loam.

Because of its beauty and growth habits, the Hibiscus moscheutos would make an excellent container grown shrub for garden or patio.

Roses In Containers

Every California gardener can have easy success with summer rose planting by selecting from the plentiful stock of popular rose varieties now blooming in containers at his local nursery. Although it has been common practice to buy bare-root stock and plant in dormant winter months, blooming container roses are proving popular and successful.

Several advantages are gained with container roses. After the container rose has been set in its new location, the home gardener enjoys beautiful blooms immediately.

Possibility of shock to transplanted roots is minimized with container roses. The roots are not taken from the surrounding soil, but take that soil to the new garden. This method of transplanting also eliminates damage to the roots.

Setting in roses from containers is simple and quick. Removing the plant is simplified by presoaking the soil in the container so that it clings to the plant's roots. Your nurseryman will gladly cut the container to facilitate removal. The hole for the new plant is prepared just as for bare-root roses, except that the bottom is flat instead of having a cone of soil as cushion.

After the hole has been filled in with more fertile soil, a mulch of organic material should be placed around the surface to help retain moisture.

Among the choice varieties sure to please the summer rose purchaser, the White Bouquet, a pale cream to snowy white Floribunda with gardenia-like flowers; the climber Golden Showers, with golden yellow flowers; and established favorites like Ma Perkins, Chrysler Imperial, Charlotte Armstrong and Lilibet.

In less arid parts of California the home gardner might consider raising roses at least the bush and floribundas, in containers and boxes. This would enable the gardner to find the best position in his garden for the roses before selecting a permanent site. When the best position has been found, the gardener can then decide whether the roses would benefit from being set in the ground.
